Dear Stuart and Maureen:

I received a message this morning from my granddaughter's "significant other" that a numismatic acquaintance of mine has been arrested for selling some ancient coins which had been stolen or otherwise not his property. The publicity is supposedly already in the Providence, Rhode Island press.

If you will telephone me promptly I will give you what I remember but you may know about it already.

Happy Independence Day from Evelyn and me

Eric

Dear Stu:

I have received no further information on the Weiss matter. If you do or I do I believe a telephone contact between us may be appropriate to try to understand what has been going on. Eric

RI doctor, noted numismatist, pleads guilty in NY rare-Italian-coin case _ with a twist

By Associated Press

NEW YORK — A prominent coin collector thought he had some valuable, ancient pieces with a problem: They shouldn't have been taken out of Italy.
